SPOTLIGHT ON THE COLLECTION

THE STAR CARR PENDANT A Mesolithic Mystery

27 February 2016 – 8 May 2016

A unique engraved shale pendant representing the oldest Mesolithic art in Britain was excavated at Star Carr near Scarborough in 2015. Following months of investigation to uncover its' meaning, it will be on public display for the first time ever.

CRYSTALS FROM BENEATH The Minerals of Northern England

14 May 2016 – 10 July 2016

Exquisite forms, a riot of colour, the highlights of Yorkshire Museum's collection of stunning minerals will be on display for the first time in 20 years this summer. The beautiful crystals were found deep within the iron, lead and copper mines of Northern England, painstakingly collected by lifelong expert Lindsay Greenbank. The display will showcase outstanding examples from the collection of 300 minerals which show the natural world at its most beautiful.

CONSTANTIUS York's Forgotten Emperor

16 July 2016 – 9 October 2016

Discover Constantius, the Roman emperor who reconquered Britain and made Eboracum (Roman York) the capital of the Empire. After his death in Eboracum in AD 306, his son Constantine the Great was declared emperor. Unique objects will be on display to uncover the story of York's forgotten emperor.

RITUAL OR DISGUISE? The Star Carr Headdress

3 December 2016 – 12 February 2017

During the original excavations at Star Carr in the 1950s, 21 red deer headdresses were discovered. Incredibly, during the final season of work at the site in 2015, more of these rare objects were found. Join us to discover how these remarkable new discoveries have shed light on life in Yorkshire 11,000 years ago.
